1.0 Policy

All Grade 8 students who are in compliance with the Detroit residency requirements may apply for admission. All students will be admitted using the criteria established in this policy.

Eligibility for admission to the ninth grade at Cass Technical and Renaissance High Schools, and Mathematics, Science and Applied Technology (MSAT) and Center for International Studies and Commerce (CISC) programs at Martin Luther King, Jr., Sr. High School is based upon the results of achievement scores on the Examination High Schools' Admission Test, as well as report card marks in the area of English, Mathematics and Science. The most recent Grade 8 report card and the final Grade 7 report card marks are used in the selection process. The reading achievement test score is weighted 25%, mathematics test score 25%, the science test score is weighted 25% and the Grade Point Average 25%. The grade point averages is for three subjects (English, Math and Science) not the overall grade point average. Students with the highest test scores and GPA's are selected first.

After all students who have been admitted through the regular procedure have been assigned to an Examination High School, an assessment is made by the principal to determine vacancies. Students who have not qualified for admittance to Cass Tech through the process are invited to consider Special Admissions Procedure. Students who are able to demonstrate exceptional abilities in Art, Music, Performing Arts, or selected technical areas may audition or present a portfolio provided the scholastic credentials are above average.

Each Examination High School principal is entitled to admit up to 10% of the incoming student body annually from the pool of students who might not otherwise qualify for admission under the regular or special admissions procedure.

Students with special needs are eligible to take the test. Any student with a disability, whether or not he/she is receiving special education services, is entitled to an appropriate accommodation as long as the accommodations should be based on their appropriateness to the nature of the student's disability and its impact on the individual. A student should not be expected to use a different accommodation in testing than used in regular instruction as specified by the current Individual Education Plan (IEP), (OCR 1987).

Through the Examination High School application process, the total number of students admitted will not exceed sixty percent (60%) of any one gender.

PROCEDURE:

1. The Examination High Schools' application period is identified as part of the Schedule for CityWide Testing for each school year. Completed applications will contain report card marks and students' priority selection of schools.
2. Students are tested during the second semester. Students absent on the day of the test must submit a letter requesting consideration for make-up testing to the Office of Research, Evaluation and Assessment. The letter must be postmarked on or before the deadline for make-up requests, as stated in the Application Procedures document. The letter must state the specific reason the student was absent. Doctors' excuses should be attached when appropriate.
3. Letters are sent to each student's home address, as indicated on the application, in the Spring. These letters indicate if each student is accepted into their first choice, second choice, etc., based on the availability of openings.
